

CALL OUT FOR CHOREOGRAPHERS

The Choreographers and Composers Lab 2019

Key Dates:

Week One: Tuesday 2 July to Saturday 6 July 2019

Week Two: Tuesday 9 July to Saturday 13 July 2019

Phoenix Dance Theatre is delighted to announce its second Choreographers and Composers Lab in July 2019; a two-week intensive in our state-of-the-art dance centre in Leeds.

Four choreographers and four composers will be selected to participate in an immersive creative process of experimentation on cross-disciplinary collaboration and artistic partnerships. The choreographers and composers will work with 12 professional dancers and four musicians who will assist them over the two-week period in the exploration of their collaborative visions.

Details of the Course

The course will be led by Phoenix Dance Theatre's Artistic Director & Choreographer Sharon Watson and Music Director & Composer Shirley J. Thompson, who throughout the duration of the course will also act as mentors to participants.

The focus will not be the creation of finished works; rather the course will encourage participants to think about creation in different and challenging ways. Initially through task-based exercises and in the later stages of the course, collaboratively developing ideas to enhance choreographic and composition practice. The spirit of the course is to provide a secure structure while remaining flexible and responsive to the needs of participants. An informal sharing to an invited audience will provide an opportunity to gain feedback at the end of the two-week course.

Lectures and workshops delivered by invited industry professionals will punctuate the course aiming to provoke discussion, 'inject' fresh perspective, encourage questions and support the creative process across the two-week period.

The Choreographers and Composers Lab provides:

- A bursary contribution of £900.00 to participating choreographers for accommodation and per diem.
- Contribution towards the participant's travel.
- Support, advice and presentations from industry professionals.
- Access to resources to facilitate learning and experimentation.
- Recording of their delivery

Criteria for selecting choreographers

Choreographers will need to be available for the whole duration of the course: 9.00am – 6.00pm, Tuesday 2 – Saturday 6 July and Tuesday 9 July – Saturday 13 July. Please note, on Saturday 13 July there is potential that the day will be extended to facilitate the studio sharing.

Essential- Choreographers must:

- Have knowledge of contemporary or classical dance vocabulary (through formal qualifications or professional training).
- Experience working with trained dancers in a professional or vocational setting.
- Have an understanding of how a dance work is created and developed.
- Have created at least one work for public performance.
- Be at the critical stage of developing a choreographic career and within the first ten years of starting their professional practice.
- Show distinctiveness in their choreographic voice, style and movement in their portfolio submissions (we are also interested in artistic voices representative of, or influenced by multi-cultural 21st century Britain).
- Have an interest in developing their skills and knowledge in artistic partnerships and cross discipline collaboration. Demonstrate keen creative drive to work collaboratively with music composers and by extension, musicians.
- Be based in the UK – primarily live and work in the UK.

Desirable but not essential- Choreographers may:

- Have worked with collaborators: musicians, composers, designers, dancers, etc.
- Have a genuine desire to work with contemporary dancers and to explore a range of contemporary dance vocabulary, new dance aesthetic, original ideas and concepts.
- Have an idea of how they can benefit from participating in the choreographers and composers lab.

Please use your discretion to determine if this description fits you. Some applicants might be within 10 years of graduating from an educational course, whilst others might have changed direction or career and mark their entering into their professional choreographic practice differently. There is no age limit to apply. If your situation is not immediately clear, please explain your position in your application.

Application

To apply please send the following:

- A C.V (maximum of 2 A4 pages). To include your contact details and the name and email of a professional reference we can contact prior to the offer of a place.
- A statement of intent (maximum of 1 A4 page) responding to the following:
 - i. What does collaboration mean to you?
 - ii. How would taking part contribute to your artistic professional development?
 - iii. Why is this the right moment for you to participate?
 - iv. What do you expect to gain or achieve from participating?

- v. A showreel: Web-links to a piece of your work (no longer than 10 minutes in duration) or to a selection of extracts (maximum of three). Please list the title of each work, the date it was premiered, names of collaborators and the date of the performance on a separate sheet. All works should have been created within the last five years.

Selection will be by invitation only.

Please note applications which do not include all of this information or arrive after the closing date will not be considered.

Requirements

- Choreographers to sign an Agreement with Phoenix Dance Theatre incorporating the course guidelines; participating in informal presentations and the documentation of work produced on the course.
- Participants are required to contribute to the evaluation process.
- Phoenix Dance Theatre reserves the right to use video recordings and photographs for promotional, educational and fundraising purposes.
